“The Answer to the WHY Question”

~ Pastor Brian Dupre~

Proverbs 3:3-8 – “Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not lean on your own understanding. In all your ways acknowledge him, and he will make straight your paths. Be not wise in your own eyes; fear the Lord, and turn away from evil. It will be healing to your flesh and refreshment to your bones”

Matthew 5:4 – “Blessed are those who mourn, for they will be comforted.” A 5-year-old child dies of coronavirus. A mother of two young children is stricken with cancer and dies 6 months later. A father of four dies in a car crash leaving his wife and kids without insurance and without income. A three year old child is killed by a stray bullet in a drive-by shooting. How do you begin to comfort those that suffer such a loss? And where is the love of God that Christians speak of at these times?

It's not easy finding an answer to the question “why” when tragedy strikes and there are no simple answers. The truth is we don't know why tragedy strikes when and where it does. But we are keenly aware that this statement provides no comfort to those that mourn in loss. The temptation is to either blame God or attempt to explain the apparent absence of His grace and mercy in these events. In the latter, we say, “God needed mom more than we did” or “Something good will come out of this.”

My friends, this type of self-medication may make us feel better in the short run, but never provides us with lasting comfort. When tragedy strikes, we may feel the need to “justify our loss” by rationalizing it. But it is just not that simple. Neither blaming God nor rationalizing our loss satisfies the “why”. One pushes us away from our Lord and creator while the other is merely a mask for our inability to understand and accept what has happened.

The sad truth is that tragic events happen because sin has come into this world and distorted all that God once called ‘Good.’ This is the only answer to the “why” question. And not even the most God-fearing Christian is exempt from the effects of this sin-sick world. The sad truth is that bad things are going to happen to all of us. It is here that I must remind you that God did not promise any of us a life without hurt, sorrow, pain, illness or affliction.

But the glorious truth is that He has promised us that come what may, He will never leave us nor forsake us (Deut. 31:6, Joshua 1:5, Heb. 13:5) and will be with us always, even to the very end of the age (Mt. 28:20). He has also promised that for those of us who endure (remain faithful) and perseveres under trial, even unto death shall be given the crown of life (Jas. 1:12, Rev. 2:10).

Our hope and our joy can be found in these promises. Our joy is that regardless of what happens to us in this life, we will not endure it alone. Our joy is in the fact the Jesus Christ has conquered death so that we may have everlasting life. Our joy is that the death of those we love is not the end of the story, for all who believe that Jesus Christ is our Lord and Savior, who died for our sins and was resurrected so that we may no longer be a slave to death, shall be saved from death and shall be resurrected to eternal life with our King, He who created us.

What do you say to those grieving the loss of a loved one? What do you say when they ask “why”? Take them back to the cross. Remind them of these truths and promises that God has given us in His Word. And remind them that, “God so loved the world that He gave up His Son, so that whoever believes in Him would not perish, but have everlasting life” (John 3:16). God bless you all!

The peace of the Lord be with you -Rev. Brian Dupre, Pastor, SOTC

TELL ME HIS NAME ~Merlin Fields~

Tell me more about Jesus

Tell me more to help me see the light

There’s a reward for living under His guiding light

There is a place for those who want to learn more about His Glory

Even those who only newly, have seen the light

The great reward for knowing Jesus; is His knowledge of us, in our search for Him

There can never be enough; He has done so much

He sees and knows; those who seek to know Him more

There is one answer; He knew us long before we could see and love Him.
